PROGRAMME REVIEW

Of

“Getting from Here to There: Identifying the Origin of Immigrants to Canada”

April 27, 2010

Our guest speaker, genealogist, author and well-known personality from History TV's, “Ancestors in the Attic”, Fawne Stratford-Devai, not only humorously explained the ins and outs of researching our family tree, but the root as well. Close to 70 attended as Fawne's most informative PowerPoint demonstration and helpful handouts provided research links and tips that detailed the intricate path to locating our ancestors and unlocking our history.

Fawne expressed the need for careful preservation and consideration be made to bequests of photographs, diaries and mementos. She gave a light approach to an otherwise difficult process with a very enjoyable programme, followed by very active Question & Answer period.

We thank all our members and visitors for supporting The Scarborough Historical Society and the programmes we bring to the community. Please refer to our website for upcoming events and we look forward to seeing you at the Bendale Library on Tuesday, September 28, 2010 at 7:30 pm for “What Happened to Port Union” with guest speaker and author, David Bowring. Please feel free to bring a guest, chat with our members and enjoy the refreshments following the programme.

Have a safe summer!
